William died 18 Dec 1699, New London, New London, CT,⁴ buried: UNKNOWN, New London, New London, CT.⁵ It is not known from whence William came. He appears first on the New London records, in 1657. At a town meeting, Aug 25, 1691, it was "voated that whe reas William Chapman had formerly allowed him by the town three pounds for his sexton's place by the year, they now add forty shillings more and order hi m five pounds per year for sweeping the meeting house and gallerys and ringi ng the bell". The comments above are a part of the introductory comments included in Rev. F. W. Chapman's 1854 account of the family. He did not provide the nam es of any prospective parents or wives. Sources for that information ne ed to be revie wed and documented. The "LDS" sources cited were added by John M. Chapman in one of his effor ts to expand this data. While these may be valid we know the LDS-IGI do es contain much error so we need to search out the IGI source record to va lidate it. The names of all the children were found in the will and the years of bir th were provided in the original account unless shown as estimated (es t) or otherwise noted. The source of the parents names is unknown. New London, CT is/was a city, township and county. It was establish ed as one of the original counties of CT in 1666. Keep in mind that mo st public records were maintained by the town, which was the township rath er than the city or the county. Few sources have made it clear which "New London" they referr ed to so all of our New London records just show "New London, CT." Invest igate further at the probable source if it is important. The association has a collection of several family group records from vari ous sources that are going to be integrated into this record. The sour ce of the record along with their "Chappie" reference is listed belo w. If and where their data is used their reference will be cited as the source. Where they cited specific so urces the association needs to follow through to investigate and obtain co pies. BRS Beth R. Smith has several "numerical" references that are meaningl ss without her sources. CCK Colin C. Kelley citing "Beers Gen. & Biog. Records New London Co ., CT 1905 JMC John M. ¹ LDS 0442438 FILM. His birthdate, at best, is an estimate. Some have used 1638 but 1633 or before seems more appropriate for a child born in 1653 which seems to be a reliable date for son John. Beth Smith shows abt 1627.

² LDS 8802102 45. LDS 8820405 22 If this is valid marriage date then there must have been an earlier wife.

³ LDS 0442438 FILM

⁴ His will was dated April 1, 1669 and the estate was appraised Jan 2, 1670. The date of his death was provided by Rev. F. W. Chapman in the original compilation.

⁵ JOH John Henderson.

Robert R. Handley cited no sources Research done by CFA member Phil Ellsworth proves that the Joseph Chapman who married Mercy Wentworth was a descendant of the Patricia Chapman of Ipswich, MA so we know nothing about William's son Joseph. Beth Smith noted that William came from England about 1639 and "I think W m. is son of Henry Chapman of Kent, Eng. but haven't proof at this time ." She did also show the 2nd wife, Elizabeth Palmer.

Sarah: Rev. F. W. Chapman did not offer a name for William's wife(s). Those who listed Sarah were John Chapman, M. D. Chapman Morgan, and Ray Chapman. John Chapman apparently got her surname from the LDS-IGI. John Henderson shows the wife to be Rebecca and cites record of her death in 1676.

Elizabeth: John Henderson reports that she was the widow of Thomas Sloan. Beth Smith also listed her as a spouse and had the marriage date.

Noah died 9 Sep 1832, West Sparta, Livingston Co., NY.²⁵¹ Chapman is a name of Saxon origin. It was originally spelled "ceapman", and its Germanic equivalent is "kaufmann". The name means "merchant" or "trader" and is among the earliest known English surnames, first appearing in Yorkshire and Lincolnshire in the thirteenth century.

Since 1216, the names of Chapman families residing in Yorkshire have been recorded on the registers and rolls of Whitby Abbey. Seaver's Chapman Family History gives a detailed record of the Chapmans of Whitby Strand. It is generally believed that most of the Chapman families who came to America in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are of Yorkshire origin, and that some of them are probably descendants of the Chapmans of Whitby. ----- obtained 2/5/01 from "http://www.rootsweb.com/~ctccolch/"

Colchester was incorporated into New London Co. on May 11, 1699. Its northern boundary is the Twenty Mile River. The south boundary is on the northern side of Lyme. The west boundary joins the east bounds of Middletown and Haddam. The east and northeast boundary run to the bounds of Lebanon and Norwich.

The land that Colchester occupies was originally part of Hartford County. On October 13, 1698 application was made by Michael Taintor, Samuel Northam and Nathaniel Foote. The land was transferred to New London and named Colchester

HISTORY OF LORAIN CO OHIO Luther Chapman came to OH on foot settling in Geauga Co where he was married to Anna Granger HISTORY OF GEAUGA CO OHIO In 1828 Luther Chapman bought of one Levi Gilkie the farm on which he now lives, Gilkie having made little improvement. Luther Chapman and Anna Sawyer dau of Thomas Sawyer were married by Rev Barrett Feb 14, 1830. They at once took possession of the homestead where they now live, for the first 8 years occupying a small cabin, which was located where the cheese-factory "parsonage" now stands, when they built the house where they now reside. The golden wedding anniversary of Mr & Mrs Chapman's marriage occurred Feb 14 1880 and had it not been for the severe indisposition of one of the older children, would have been duly celebrated. The children comprise 5 daughters and 1 son, all of whom are living within easy reach of the homestead. This is the oldest couple now living who were married in the township of Troy. 1850 US Census of Troy, Geauga Co OH 7 sept L Chapman 50 Farmer $2000 MA A. Chapman 46 N.Y. L. Chapman 17 f OH

 ----- -- FRANK SETTLEMENT CEMETERY or HATCH SETTLEMENT CEMETERY BUSTI, NY

This very old, small cemetery is probably the resting place of three Revolutionary War soldiers. Two are certain, John FRANK is in some question. It's located on what was known as the FRANK Settlement, One of the first spots settled in Busti, near Busti Village. It lies about 3/4 miles from the village on the Busti town line Rd, heading towards the lake. It is abandoned and in 1953 when read by Rupert C. LOUCKS, was still mowed annually. Information on burials here is scanty and I have also found a bit of additional data on some of the families to be used ONLY as a guide; There is quite a lot on this FRANK family in Andrew Young's History of Chautauqua Co. Frank, son of Lawrence Frank, came to Busti by foot in 1810 seeking a new location for the family. He is called the first settler of Busti according to Young's History of Chautaugua County and the State Gazette in Albany. They settled on lot 61. He and his brother Michael moved their families to Busti from Frank's Fort in 1811. While they were building their log cabin, wolves and other wild animals had to be kept away at night by a constantly burning bonfire. In those days, Bears, wolves, and foxes were plentiful. Wild pigeons darkened the sky in passing over. Wild ducks and fish abounded. John L. Frank had recently married Lucretia Chapman. He was a devout Christian and one of the fourteen original members of the Busti Baptist Church. His family bible published in the 1800's has the family records written by him with quill pen. Mr. Frank built a tannery about a mile north of Busti. It was across from the house he built in 1836 on the banks of the creek. He built a shoe factory on the opposite corner from his house. He made his own leather and made boots and shoes as long as he lived. One of his sons built a last factory. Mr. Frank hired twenty-five men to work in his shoe factory which was a lot of men in those days. He also had a Dairy farm and made cheese and butter. Nearby was a sawmill owned by Oren Stoddard; a basket factory; a block factory and a wooden bowl factory. --The children were educated in the District Schools and in Jamestown." A few days later William Frank and Anna Sheppard were admitted. The first church edifice was erected in 1836, the present one in 1853." He was a man respected by the entire community. He was a devout Christian and an earnest worker in the church. He was one of the fourteen original members of the First Baptist Church, established in Busti, and was always active and prominent in its affairs. A son, Abram Frank built a shoe last factory there. A blacksmith shop was built in Frank Settlement about 1812 by Patrick Campbell: a sideline of that shop was the making of edged tools, sythes, blades for cradles, axes etc. Uriah Hawks built a chair and spinning Wheel factory there also. Later, about 1830, a clock factory was built near there." Post Journal Newspaper Article: The Busti Triangle---: "On Aug 30, 1813, part of the road we now call Southwestern Drive was surveyed on what was then the Ellicott town line as far south as Hatch Creek, where the bridge was replaced in 1988. On Sept 16 this road was extended down through Frank Settlement and as far as Bush's mill site on Stillwater Creek, where Bush had not yet built the mill there. In 1816 a new main route was put through from Sugargrove to Jamestown. In 1817 Bush built his tavern which still stands, at the south edge of Frank Settlement and south of the intersection of Southwestern Drive and the new road described above. -- However in 1822, Busti-Sugargrove Road was improved. The new route to Sugar Grove was extended at this time to Jamestown, creating Forest Avenue and completing the configuration of the Busti five corners as we still know it." Post Journal October

4, 1969: A site to behold: by Jean Moore "A town of Busti forester and farmer accidentally uncovered the remnants of a tannery believed to have been built in 1812 by John Frank, first settler in Busti. ---A graduate of the N,Y, State Ranger School at Wanakena, Bob (Schultz) was digging a drainage ditch when he spotted a piece of ground hemlock bark. He recognized that this was a bit unusual. Abandoning the digging rig, Bob got a shovel and turned the earth by hand. His care was rewarded when he uncovered a perfectly preserved cow hide that had been apparently tanned over 100 years ago. Further digging uncovered six wooden vats sunk some 18 to 20 inches beneath the earth. A seventh vat has been partially uncovered and preliminary digging of adjacent land indicates more of the seven and one-half foot by three and one-half foot vats may be found.

It was from the Senecas that Robert Morris, in 1797, purchased the land of Western New York for two and one-half cents an acre. Included in the original purchase was 30,168 acres of "dense forest" that would become the town of Busti.

The wilderness tract that John Frank, first settler in Busti, found to be his portion purchased from the Holland Land Co. was covered by thick clusters of pine, beech, maple, oak, elm, and hemlock trees.

The trees were so thick according to town archives, that corn was planted in gashes slashed in the roots of tree stumps.

From those same solid hemlocks, John Frank cut logs for the wooden vats of a tannery, built in 1812 and believed to have been the only tannery in Busti.

Neighbors of Bob Schultz whose farm at 1135 Southwestern Drive yielded the cow hide and tanning vats, believe they are indeed remnants of the first resident of the Town of Busti.

In addition to the tannery, John Frank also built a last factory for making of wooden moulds for the shoes made from his tanned leather. The Frank shoe factory employed 25 persons - a prodigious number for that day.

Soon the Frank settlement, one mile north of the present hamlet of Busti, added a chair and spinning-wheel factory, a saw mill, a clock factory, a tavern, a store, and an ashery as well as two churches and a one-room school.

At the site of the Frank tannery, Patrick Camel (also spelled Campbell in later records) built his blacksmith shop" 1820 Federal Census, Busti, Chautauqua Co., New York John L. It is the only village and post office in the town. Settlement commenced in December 1810, by John L. Frank, who came in company with John Steward from Frankfort, Herkimer Co., and took up a tract of land on which he settled about two and one-half miles from the village. His family consisting of wife and two children, came in February, 1811, in company with his father, three brothers, and their families, and the family of John Steward. Their nearest neighbors were four miles distant. Mr. Frank was born at Frankfort, Herkimer Co., the native place of his parents, Nov 28, 1786. Nov. 22 1807, at the age of twenty-one, he married Lucretia Chapman, daughter of Noah and Ann Chapman of Colchester, New London Co., Conn. They have raised a family of fifteen children, ten of whom have become heads of families. Both are still living, the former being 86 years old, and his wife 81. During their married life of nearly sixty-six years they have had to employ a hired girl only sixteen weeks. They still continue to do their work, Mr Frank managing alone a garden of two acres."

Moved to Farmington, OH sometime after the birth of Eunice in 1834 Historical Coll. of Bristol Twp gives b. at NH 1850 OH census list her as b. in NH although other sources suggest Genesee, NY (possibly that is where she was prior to marriage) Letter from Mrs E Knox -said Johanna came from MA and her father was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. According to the 1892 book Genealogy of the Pelton Family in America.

"Lower, in his Dictionary of English Surnames, derives Pelton as a summe from the Parish of Peldon in Essex, England. Burke, in his General Armory, says: "The Peltons and Poltons had their seats in Essex and Northamptonshire. he gives their coats of arms, which differ but little.

In Morant's History of Essex, vol. I, 417-19, we find Peldon parish, manor and hall, situated in Winstree Hundred; and that, in the reign of Edward the Confessor, the lands in the parish where this manor is situated were held by Turchill, a freeman, and another freeman, name not given. Peldon Hall, the mansion house, stands on the north side of the church. The estate was granted by William the Conqueror, to William the Deacon, about 1086, toward the rebuilding of St. Paul's Cathedral, hence held by the Bishops of London. It was held from them by a family that, from the manor, took the name of Peltindone. In 1282 Walter de Peltindone enfeoffed John de Nevill and Margery, his wife, with part of this manor - three hundred and sixty acres and a windmill, etc." In 1332 it was called Pelyndon, and in 1358 Pelyngdon. The manor has been known as Peltendune, Pelyngdon, Pellin gdon, Peltindone, Pelyndon, Peltindone, Poltendon and Peldon and the family name has varied accordingly. "D! un signifies a hill; a part of the parish is on a hill." "

His father, Joseph Chapman, was one of the two first New England settlers who came in 1798, the other being Andrew Tracy. His grandfather, Joseph Chapman, Sr., was a sea captain "who had made fifty voyages to the West Indies," and he resided here from fall of 1798 till spring of 1800, while preparing his future home in Dimock. His maternal grandfather was of the Leffingwell family of Revolutionary fame. He went to school to Geo. Catlin, the celebrated Indian painter, in winter of 1812-13, at the top of Dewitt hill. He learned the clothier's trade at John Kingsley's establishment in the edge of Harford, and he had previously worked in the Brooklyn Cotton Factory - the first enterprise of the kind in township or county. He married Louisa S. a daughter of Bela Jones a representative of Susquehanna County in the Legislature of 1833, and he lived for a time at Jones's Lake in Bridgewater. He afterward lived upon and worked the old farm of his father in Brooklyn, the first clearing on which was made by John Robinson in 1787. He once represented Brooklyn in foreign lands and seas. In making a whaling voyage to the South Atlantic, he visited the grave of Napoleon whose remains were then entombed on the island of St. Helena and guarded by British Soldiers. After sojourning a while at Carbondale, Pa., he bought the Blanchard place, now in Lathrop but in early times a part of Brooklyn. This place now owned by Marvin L. Tiffany (formerly of Brooklyn) was once owned by a non-resident, Jeremiah Blanchard. It has also been occupied by Ira, Sweatland and many others, but its first proprietor as early as 1799 and before, was Joseph Sprague, of whom Samuel Tewksbury (now of Auburn), Brooklyn's oldest living son, tells the following story: "About 1809 there still lived a hermit in a rude log hut, in the Wilderness above what is now the borough of Hopbottom. He was a man by himself, all alone in his cabin, his dress a leathern shirt and pants of same, with a kind of Indian blanket for vest and coat, a coonskin cap, and buck-skin moccasins for boots. One night an Indian stopped at his cabin, and in the morning took Sprague to a brook near by and showed him an Indian mark on a tree to indicate the location of a salt spring. [The tree stood on the east side of the creek nearly opposite the Bell saw-mill in Hopbottom village.] As soon as the informer had left, Sprague started to publish the discovery. He took a road dimly marked through a dense forest to reach the nearest human being in that direction several miles away, at a farm where lived a Mr. Halstead. He related his news, and tarried until late in the day, that he might have a present of fresh beef to carry home. He cut the meat into three pieces and strung them on a stick for convenience in carrying, and this act saved the life of our hero, as we shall see. He took his way back through the woods, lonely beyond conception, and the more so when, but half way through, the shades of night fell upon him. Looking back he saw a pack of wolves in close pursuit-so close he had not time to climb to avoid them. In this dilemma, not courage but strategy avails. He drew one of the pieces of meat and dropped it in the path. This had the desired effect. He made haste. Reader, you would have done the same! The first bait was devoured, the wolves again in hot pursuit, and when to delay was death, another piece was dropped, and when the third and last piece was gone, the cabin was not yet in reach; but pressing forward, the love of life quickening every nerve now for the home stretch, the wolves are for the fourth time close upon their assured prey, making the night hideous with their howls, the cabin near, but the wolves so near he can feel their hot breath-just one thought and he is saved! The coon-skin cap is dropped, the wolves make a momentary halt, but the next instant they are so close that when he enters they are only forced back by the slamming door and the walls of the cabin. Their victim escaped, they render music not so pleasant as did David with Psaltry and harp. At the dawn of day the wolves retired to the recesses of the forest, and Sprague ventured out. He found the cap torn in fragments-the cap lost but the owner saved to relate one of the most thrilling and narrow escapes of frontier life. Sprague left soon after, but his race for life was long remembered, and the salt spring was sought. Your relator well remembers visiting the place of the marked tree, and then and there seeing Amos Bailey, Bloomfield Milbourn, Jacob Tewksbury, Joseph Chapman, Old Prince the slave, and others, but no salt was found. Salt then cost $13 per barrel." Mr. Sprague was an uncle of the Sweatlands and invited them to settle on his land, but he afterward willed it to Mr. Blanchard who cared for him during his sickness in Wilkes-Barre.

After Mr. Chapman left this Sprague place he came to the one under consideration, which is also one of old-time reminiscences, the house standing on the south part of "Dutch Meadow" which was cleared by Mortimer Page in 1787. Mr. and Mrs. C. recently removed to Scranton where they now reside. Their children are Elizabeth, deceased, (Mrs. Johnson), Joseph L. (lumber merchant of Scranton), Ann T. (Mrs. Yeomans), Clara L. (Mrs. Rockwell), Fanny J.-died Oct. 16, 1869, a., 13 yrs., 11 in., and Edith M. (Mrs. Palmer).

Notes received by Ed Krimmer from Carl F. Heintze, JR on about 3/18/2008: "That's my grandfather, though you have a mistake in his birthdate. It was as 1849 not 1749. He was conceived by his father the year before who went off to look for gold in California and who died in the Sierra Nevada, along with a brother. My great-grandmother, Lavina, then also died leaving my grandfather an orphan. An uncle brought him to California over the Isthmus of Panama probably around 1866 and eventually he settled in Napa, married and raised his family of seven children. He never returned to Ledyard-New London, but some of his children did. He is buried in Tulocay Cemetery in Napa, along with his wife Paulina, who came from Norway about the same time and all his children. Carl Heintze"

In the 1840 census, Henry Chapman was listed in the 20 to 30 year age bracket and was enumerated with a female also in the 20 to 30 year age bracket. The female is presumed to be his wife Clarissa Chapman. She married Henry Chapman

Henry: 1819 year of birth is that listed on tombstone in East Cemetery, Manchester, CT. Town Clerk of East Hampton does not have a record of his birth.

The 1880 census would indicate he was born in 1820.

Henry's death certificate indicates he was probably born in 1824.

The cause of death, as listed on the death certificate is an accident.

He was enumerated with his wife Clarissia, a daughter Charity age 10 (it is indicated that Charity was born in CT however, this is the first and only indication of this daughter that I have located), and Jason D., age 4. His occupation was listed as a farmer. The value of his real estate was listed as $1,000 and the value of his personal estate was listed as $232.

Henry Chapman (Age 60) is listed as working in the feldspar mines. He was enumerated with his wife, Clarissia, age 62. Also enumerated with them were his son, Jason D. Chapman, Jason's wife, Julia, and Jason and Julia's daughter Sarah, age 8/12, and a boarder, Henry Simpson, male, age 18. No street or dwelling number were listed on the census.

The 1855 State Census for WI indicated that Henry was enumerated with two females. I presume that the 2nd female was daughter Charity, but the census does not give names of individuals enumerated other than the head of the household.

In the 1850 Federal Census, Henry was enumerated with his wife Clarissia, and daughter Charity. Henry and family are not included in any index for the 1850 CT census.

The census also indicated that his real estate value was $500 and his personal worth was $100.

The 1900 Federal Census indicated that Nathanael had been unemployed for 4 months.

Melinda: The Death Certificate indicates that Melinda's last name was Huniston, however, "The Hotchkiss Family - First Six Generations", according to St u H otchkiss indicated the spelling should be Humiston. Could be a typo error on the death certificate.

Louise died 1948, Scranton, Pa, buried: in Dunmore Cem. I am surmising that Louise Chapman Johnson is William Rockwell's second wife - her tombstone reads "Louise Chapman Rockwell, wife of William B Rockwell 1869-1948" If Chapman is her actual middle name, she may have been a distant cousin (or not so distant?).

Actually, I am guessing that she was the daughter of Elizabeth Chapman and Jas. Johnson and I have entered it as such in the database. This would make her the niece of William Rockwell's first wife, Clara Louise.

The passenger list of the Schooner Velasco, which left New London, CT, January 24, 1849, included a William Chapman, along with Levi, Amos and Lyman Chapman. His father Levi Chapman and Uncle Amos Chapman died of smallpox in an epidemic of 5,000 Dec. 15, 1849.

Solon Chapman's autobiography says that William came around the horn after he heard of his father Levi's death. The "History of Solano and Napa Counties" by Gregory says William came around the horn in 1850 on a sailing vessel on which he worked his passage because of lack of funds. The trip lasted 7 months, and he remained in the state five years, spending most of that time mining at Mokelumne Hill.

In 1855 he returned to CT, where he married Elizabeth Lamb. A year after their marriage they returned to California via the Isthmus of Panama, bringing 8 hives of bees, half of which survived the trip. He was in the bee business 1 year before trading his bees for real estate. Still undecided about making California his permanent home, he returned east again after a stay of eighteen months, and farmed for three years in his native state. For the third time he came to California in 1860, locating in Browns valley.

William Henry Chapman owned a 75-acre orchard in Napa County which lay about a half mile beyond what was then the end of First St. He built a plantation-type home with the help of his cousins, Asa and Solon (sons of Ichabod Chapman), and probably his old Uncle Lyman. The house stood in the center of a grove of evergreen trees, pine, cypress, eucalyptus and was surrounded by low, long, green hedges. The old road in front had a row of beautiful poplars on both sides and a half-mile long. Connected to the house by covered porches were a large storage house and a large wood shed. The old family well was half-way to the creek. Alongside the creek was a large red barn.

He raised cherries, peaches, prunes and other fruits, as well as gooseberries, raspberries and blackberries. He developed the Chapman Cherry, an early black variety, and made regular shipments to eastern markets. For more than a quarter of a century he engaged in the improvement of varieties of cherries. He selected the best fruit from the best trees. When fully ripe and in perfect condition, he would lay these cherries away in boxes, in damp sand in a cool place, to be nourished by the pulp surrounding them. Early the following spring, these seeds would be planted in carefully prepared ground. Their growth and habits would be closely watched. Only those that showed promise to the trained eye would be further cultivated. In the winter when the wood of these seedlings had been selected and ripened, cuttings were taken and grafted into some old cherry tree. With this method he produced the Chapman Advance, the early Tartarian, the Purity, the Centennial and many others. The Centennial was first fruited in 1876. It was a hard white cherry, firm, sweet and excellent shipping quality. It was an improvement of the Napoleon Bigareau. The Early Chapman or Advance is a seedling of the Black Tartarian. This cherry made

William was roadmaster of the Brown's Valley District for six years.

He, Isaac Ornduff and Nathan S. Coombs granted parcels of land to the coun ty to create Browns Valley Road. The land grants left the three farm prope rties split in half with part lying south of the road and the balance on t he north side. He eventually sold off the south portion and retained 36 ac res which extended from along the north line of the road back to the cent er of Redwood Creek. At the time of his death he willed each of his childr en 2.76 acres of land.
